HAS THE JOURNAL FLOPPED?

The following appeared on the 13th instant in an issue of the Gazette:

"It is hoped that the JOURNAL's editorial column will stay flopped, and give the Declaration of Independence a rest. It may be a little bewildering to its readers to have the policy of the paper change so often, but it is better to be right semi-occasionally than wrong all the time."

We do not like to be placed in a position by the Gazette that requires an admission not favorable to its acknowledged intelligence. Had the Gazette editor read the JOURNAL as he is capable of reading it the above extract would not have been written. This paper has not flopped, and is not a flopper. There was published in the JOURNAL some time ago an article that was copied by the Gazette wherein it was argued that an expansion of sovereignty by the United States to territory lying beyond the American continent was not in itself imperialistic.

The press of the country then in opposition to expansion was voicing that "expansion is imperialism." Since the publication of that article the opposition press has changed its position, and since the change of position taken had the JOURNAL been published in San Francisco it would have published to the world that its work had brought about the change in the position of the opposition press of the country. But published as it is in a country town, and is a country newspaper, its modesty would not permit any display of egotism over the details of its conquest.

From the time the article referred to was published not a word has appeared in the JOURNAL in opposition to the position taken, and, such being the truth, there has not been a flop. Some articles of late have appeared upon militarism that had the approval of the present editor of the JOURNAL. Militarism as a condition applied to the country is to be avoided as we would avoid imperialism, and as nothing has appeared in the JOURNAL in opposition to what has been said upon militarism there could not have been a flop.

The editor of the Gazette is the person who is bewildered, and his "bewildering" comes from not giving the attention he should give to what is said in the JOURNAL. Militarism, when applied to the country, would be so objectionable to Americans that they would act in a body to clear the land of it for all time, but when it is confined to the army, where it has its place in the economy of government to provide discipline and order, the objection to it ceases, and should it appear in a soldier who for a time has a position in civil life it can be set aside without any sacrifice of feeling by those upon whom it is rudely imposed.

The objection to the extension of the sovereign power of the United States to the Philippines because of a possible militarism is so weak that it should not occupy the attention of intelligent men, but as a matter of politics there will be much said about it, and the passions of men will be aroused over an imaginary evil.

The JOURNAL is not an advocate of any policy for the government of the Philippines at this time. The policy to be applied to the islands will come in its order to be disposed of by Congress, and when it receives attention it will furnish a theme for disputants of no mean compass of mind. The country is at war, and we will support any action consistent with the rules of civilized nations in war to conquer a peace, and upon that question there can be no division consistent with patriotic duty. As political matters seem to be taking shape at this time the Democratic party will be in opposition to extension of sovereignty by the United States to the Philippines, and should that be a part of its policy in the next campaign we believe the party will be defeated.

THE IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

No two men could better represent Nevada at the National Irrigation Congress which convenes September 25th in Missoula, Montana, than Col. Maxson and Dr. Stubbs. We can feel assured that the interests of our State will be well cared for by these gentlemen.

The importance of the session of the Irrigation Congress cannot be overestimated. The vast area of arid and semi-arid lands in the United States have been the subject of much discussion during the past five years. Upon the reclamation of these lands depends in a great measure the prosperity of this nation. It is a subject that is en-

ONE of the most laughable courtroom incidents that I recall occurred a number of years ago in the Washoe county district court, in which the controversy related to an agreement made between two sons of southern Europe relative to a potato patch.

Mr. W— was the attorney for one of the parties to the agreement, whom we will call Pete. This lawyer was very energetically attempting to prove that the agreement was parol for the purpose of obtaining some benefit under the statute of frauds. During his examination he said:

"Now, Pete, you savvy da maka da contract?"

"Um-m-m?"

"You savvy da contract?"

"Um-m-m?"

"Now, the contract," getting very energetic, "did they make it in writing—in writing?"

"No," said Pete, with a shrug of his shoulders, "da maka 'im in da kitchen."

"That's all!" shouted W—.

grossing the attention of statesmen, agriculturists, editors and engineers, and much has already been accomplished in this direction. It has been demonstrated that these arid lands may be transformed into fertile fields of marvelous productiveness by the utilization of the waters of the streams and by the reservoir storage of storm waters, and the excessive flow from the mountains during the spring and early summer months, for use during the later months of drought. For the perfection of the plans already inaugurated and for the introduction of new measures, additional legislation is required.

This is not only a local issue. It is a question that directly affects the people of every State, east and west, north and south. The growth of the population of the United States renders imperative the provision of new areas, where men can build homes for their families and gain from the earth a competency for themselves. The area embraced in what is denominated the "arid belt," if reclaimed by practical and systematic methods, will furnish homes for millions of people.

The newly awakened interest in reclamation of these lands indicates that the whole nation is beginning to appreciate its importance. It signifies that the purposes for which the irrigation congress was organized are questions which concern the whole nation.

Nevada has more to gain from scientific water storage and distribution than any other State in the union. The methods at present in use in our riparian agricultural districts are crude and aboriginal. The waste is wilful and the want is woful, or, at least, the latter would be as true as the former if more of our arable land were tilled. We need education in matters of irrigation and water storage. Careful reading of the reports of this congress, which will receive publicity in the JOURNAL, will teach us useful lessons.

Planning the Exhibit.

J. A. Yerington of Carson, one of Nevada's Paris exposition commissioners, was in consultation yesterday with his confrere, Colonel H. B. Maxson, on matters relating to Nevada's exhibition at the coming fair.

Home Again.

Rev. Mr. Jones, Methodist minister at Reno, accompanied by his family, arrived last evening from Pacific Grove, Cal., where they have been in attendance upon the California Methodist conference.

Large Enrollment.

New students are still arriving at the University. When all those who have engaged rooms are here Lincoln Hall and the Cottage will be entirely filled.

Announcement.

I have just received a complete line of working and dress shirts of the latest patterns and styles, which I will sell at bedrock prices. I wish to call particular attention to a working shirt I am handling. It is undoubtedly the best working shirt that was ever sold on the Coast for the money. Call and examine the same.

I have all the latest patterns in golf and negligee shirts, in silks and madras cloths.

I am pleased to announce that I have secured the agency of the Wheeler overall, famous on this Coast as being the best fitting and most durable overall on the market. It is riveted, triple-sewed and made of the heaviest and best denim. Try a pair and be convinced.

Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.

KENNA, Jackson Co., W. Va.
About three years ago my wife had an attack of rheumatism which confined her to her bed for over a month and rendered her unable to walk a step without assistance; her limbs being swollen to double their normal size. Mr. S. Maddox insisted on my using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and used it according to the directions and the next morning she walked to breakfast without assistance in any manner, and she has not had a similar attack since. A. B. PARSONS. For sale by W. Pinniger.

The Best in the World.

We believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best in the world. A few weeks ago we suffered with a severe cold and a troublesome cough, and having read their advertisements in our own and other papers we purchased a bottle to see if it would effect us. It cured us before the bottle was more than half used. It is the best medicine out for coughs and colds.—The Herald, Andersonville Indiana. For sale by W. Pinniger.

Burglars Abroad.

Wednesday night thieves entered the Jewell residence on Virginia street. They secured little booty. Extra precautions should be taken by Reno residents during fair week, as a number of hard characters will be in town.

Construction Begun.

The basement has been excavated and masons are laying the foundation for Senator Westerfield's new residence on south Virginia street.

Football Rally.

The football enthusiasts at the University will hold a rally Saturday evening. All friends of this sport are invited to attend.

New Course.

Another course has been added to the curriculum of the State University. It is the school of mechanical engineering presided over by Prof. Blossom.

Is a Very Sick Man.

Otto Herz, the jeweler, is quite ill. His physicians report the case as serious, though not dangerous.

Still More Runners.

A couple of fancy thoroughbreds arrived from Grass Valley yesterday to enter the lists at the fair.

FORESTRY MATTERS
BRIEFLY DISCUSSED

Interview With Prof. McDowell of the Nevada State University.
Professor R. H. McDowell of the Experiment Station at the Nevada State University gave the JOURNAL some interesting information yesterday in interview.
"The State of Nevada is not generally supposed to be a forest region, but there are within its limits sufficient timber to supply the needs of our population for some time.
"These forests are principally on the Sierran foothills, but there are a number of isolated tree belts in the central and eastern portions of the State.
"Yet the time will come when these groves will be destroyed and our wooded hills will be bleak and bare. Reforesting will be our only hope. Why not commence now?
"This work can be begun on a modest scale and will not only win for the farmer who undertakes this work appreciation by his fellows, but will probably put dollars in his pocket.
"The American citizen always has an eye to the financial side of every venture. An instance of this work may be given.
Mr. Budd of Iowa has an ash grove of ten acres, thinned to six feet apart, contained twelve thousand trees, and at twelve years of age were eight inches in diameter at a thirty-five feet high. The wood from thinning paid all expenses of planting and cultivation.
"Ten acres of this timber, twelve years old, was estimated to be worth six thousand dollars. Mr. Budd says that ten acres of black ash, planted for hoop poles in rows four feet apart, may be half thinned in five years, and at three cents per pole will yield $1,800. The remaining half, or fifty-four thousand trees, cut two years later for large hoop poles, at six cents per pole, will yield $1,860.
"From a limited trial at the Experiment Station we think well of the black walnut, ash, elm and box elder. A prominent factor in connection with tree culture is that the regular work of the farm, including orchard-growing and stock raising, can be carried on in connection with a grove of ten acres or more in extent.
Help plan the soldiers' greeting.
Fall Opening.
Miss Motley's fine display of fall millinery was much admired yesterday. The store was thronged all day. Miss Gibbs' new fall styles were put on exhibition yesterday. The beauty of the new designs was enhanced by the skill with which they were displayed.
The new home of the Riverside studio was formally opened yesterday. The reception parlor is richly and handsomely furnished, and the operating rooms are equipped with the best modern appliances.
It is everyone's duty to attend.
Vandals Do Damage.
Wednesday night two handsome and expensive plate glass windows were wrecked. Around the broken glass in S. Jacobs' window were drops of blood, showing that possibly the damage was caused accidentally by someone falling against the window.
The glass front of the Nevada Hardware & Supply Company's store was undoubtedly broken by design. It will cost $75 to repair the damage. There is no clue to the perpetrators.
A Thousand Tongues.
Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, 1125 Howard St., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"It soon removed pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praise throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.
Robbed the Grave.
A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in the most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement, I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim. No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

Lots of Money Paid for Recording a Mortgage, Coryoration Invests Very Largely In War Stamps.

SIXTY-TWO thousand five hundred dollars war tax, just to have two mortgages recorded! That is the trifling sum a grasping corporation had to dig into its jeans for before Ben Shearer would record its papers which arrived yesterday.
Sixty-two $1000 stamps and one for the odd change, $500, were pasted on the documents.
A thousand dollar revenue stamp is a measly, insignificant little scrap of paper; not big enough to stick into a gas jet and light a cigar with, but it will buy 10,000 cigars good enough for even a county recorder to smoke. I hazard a guess that for its size there is no more valuable bit of paper than one of these self-same stamps.
A thousand dollar stamp is green and a five hundred dollar one is red; which simply proves that different colors sometimes strike the pocket book as well as the eye with different velocities.
They are good sized documents to which these stamps are affixed. Their titles are:
CENTRAL PACIFIC RY CO. CENTRAL PACIFIC RY CO,
TO TO
U. S. TRUST CO. OF N. Y., CENTRAL TRUST CO. OF N. Y.,
TRUSTEE. TRUSTEE.
MORTGAGE. MORTGAGE.
The first mortgage is given to secure issuance of 3 1/2 per cent mortgage gold bonds to an amount which shall not in any event exceed in the aggregate the sum of $25,000,000 at any time outstanding. The other mortgage is to secure the issuance of bonds within the limit of $2,000,000,000. Uncle Sam is a cute old boy. He juggled with some sort of a refunding bill in Congress, and then declared war, so that the railroad would have to pungle up some stamps in their reorganizing scheme. Long head, Uncle Samuel.
The Recorder's fees in this matter will be $93.70, and the mortgages will fill 140 pages of the Washoe records.

Ernest Hall returned to Virginia yesterday after a visit to Harry Gosse.
Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lemmon of Carson spent yesterday in the metropolis of Nevada.
G. W. Perkins returned yesterday from a visit to San Francisco.
An Ugly Customer.
An Indian named Bob Lomy filled up on the cup that exhilarates Wednesday evening, and somehow or other got the idea in his head that a race war was on. Officer Helms tried to "soothe the savage beast," but Bob didn't soothe worth a cent. Instead, he rose in all his might, and made a swipe at the officer that made the air sizzle, but he didn't connect. Helms led for Bob's solar plexus, which was blocked in a clever manner, and the combatants clinched. Words are too weak to portray what followed, but when the dust finally settled the officer was described perching upon Bob's manly bosom, triumphantly waving a sprained thumb. Bob was escorted to the lockup, and yesterday was invited to spend a few days at the county building in recognition of his prowess.
